BACKGROUND

This public comment period is part of an informal, pre-rulemaking process to develop regulations, and all interested parties are encouraged to participate.

Both Discussion Drafts address new requirements for active gas pipelines, particularly those pipelines that are less than 4" in diameter or more than 10 years old, and that are located in sensitive areas, as defined by AB 1420. One Discussion Draft relates to active gas pipeline testing and inspection and Pipeline Management Plans. The second Discussion Draft relates to active gas pipeline mapping and data submission requirements for operators.
