

ONLINE ANNUAL REPORTING SYSTEM - TERMS OF USE

1. Participation in the Department of Conservation's ("Department") Division of Mine Reclamation's ("DMR") Mining Operation Annual Reporting System ("MOARS") is voluntary and subject to the Conditions of Use, Privacy Policy and Accessibility provisions found at the bottom of the Department's website. Specific terms and conditions set forth below also apply. Please review these provisions prior to the use of MOARS.
2. ELECTRONIC FILING. To use MOARS, you must use your California mine identification number and unique Mine Code found on the courtesy letter sent to you (at the address on file) via the United States Postal Service at the beginning of May. This unique Mine Code is only valid for one reporting year. You are entirely responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of the unique Mine Code. You may not use the California mine identification number or unique Mine Code of someone else at any time. You agree to notify DMR immediately on any unauthorized use of your unique Mine Code. DMR shall not be liable for any loss or damage that you may incur as a result of unauthorized persons using your unique Mine Code.
3. PARTICIPATION IN MOARS. By submitting required Mining Operation Annual Reports (Annual Report) through MOARS for your mining operation(s), you warrant and represent that you are authorized to act on behalf of the mining operation(s) for which you are submitting the Annual Reports. You understand and agree that the information contained in the Annual Report submitted through MOARS is intended to comply with all applicable requirements under Public Resources Code section 2207 for your mining operation(s) for the specific reporting year and any other associated requirements under the Surface Mining and Reclamation Act of 1975, also referred to as "SMARA." The Department and DMR, their officers, directors, employees, consultants, agents, and representatives may use the Annual Reports submitted through MOARS in connection with the jurisdiction and authorities of the Department and DMR for all intent and purpose as if the Annual Report form was submitted in hard-copy form.
4. PAYMENT OF ANNUAL REPORTING FEES. Payments of corresponding annual reporting fee(s) for your mining operation(s) associated with the filing of Annual Reports through MOARS is also available electronically by clicking on the following link:
